QUARANTINE MADE NECESSARY BY THE LIVE STOCK DISEASE

One of the worst epidemics of the deadly foot and mouth disease which has ever been recorded, is this week rampant among the live stock of California, and health and civil officials, federal, state and county are working night and day to prevent the spread of the disorder. Quarantine conditions have been established in nearly all counties of the state, and the transportation of live stock or animal products, even including hides and manure are forbidden.

Thus far the stock of this county have not been infected, but so numerous are the sections affected that transportation of animal products are practically at a stand still. All private slaughter houses selling meat without the government inspector's seal are ordered closed in this county, and the sheriff's office is on the lookout for evaders of this ruling and for any shipments passing along the highway.

An embargo issued from the office of the district attorney on Monday includes dogs, cats, chickens, rabbits, turkeys and all other forms of live stock. Shipments of these animals or their products are not to be made and all animals running loose will be seized.

In the infested regions all animals that show signs of the disease will be immediately killed and destroyed, to prevent the spreading of the disease.

While considerable fear was at first felt that the epidemic would extend to the human race, it has been announced that the effects on the human body are not severe, and that pasturization of milk precludes the spread of the disease by this means. Cooked meat is practically free from danger.

The national government is taking an active part in the eradication and curtailment of the foot and mouth disease, and a large number of representatives of the United States Bureau of Animal Industry are now at work in California. The University of California is co-operating with the federal and state officials and its department of veterinary science has been turned over to the use of those who are engaged in fighting the disease.

The coastside of San Mateo county lost one of its oldest and most highly respected citizens last Sunday when Judge John Pitcher passed away at his home in Halfmoon Bay. During his whole public life, Judge Pitcher established for himself a character of moral integrity and uprightness of dealing that will long live after him. He was for many years a member of the Society of California Pioneers, and was one of the most regular attendants at the meetings of that organization.

The deceased is survived by one daughter, Miss Josie Pitcher and five sons, John, Thomas, Adolph, Rudolph and Clifford. The funeral was held from the Halfmoon Bay Methodist church last Tuesday. Interment was in Purissima cemetery.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE SEEKS HARBOR DEVELOPMENT

The following is a copy of a telegram sent to Congressman Free of this district in regard to the Redwood City Harbor. The telegram is explanatory. No reply has yet been received.

Congressman Arthur M. Free,
Washington, D. C.

In order to provide for sufficient depth of water to take care of commerce now developing at Redwood Harbor it is necessary to increase present depth of channel. As you are aware government has heretofore maintained certain depth in Redwood Channel but this is inadequate for prospective commerce. Private enterprises now developing Harbor indicate willingness to co-operate with government in every way possible to provide necessary depth in channel to take care of tonnage, but upon taking matter up with Colonel Deakyne in charge of San Francisco office of Rivers and Harbors are advised nothing can be done until provision for survey to determine cost is included in Rivers and Appropriation bill. Cost of this survey would be nominal in view of information already at hand in local office of War department, but regulations provide nothing can be done without authorization from Congress as outlined above. Can you arrange to have this included under Rivers and Harbors Division in General Appropriation Bill before present session of Congress. Please wire fully our expense stating procedure necessary in order to insure favorable action on above.

REDWOOD CITY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

MRS. HARR WAGNER, FAMOUS AUTHOR, DIES AT MONTARA

Mrs. Madge Morris Wagner, wife of Harr Wagner, the San Francisco publisher, lecturer and writer, passed away at her home in Montara Wednesday night after an illness of several years. Mrs. Wagner was one of California's famous poets and her poem and prose selections were of such literary merit as to place her as one of the nation's most gifted writers.

Mrs. Wagner came from her native state, Iowa, sixty years ago and settled with her family at San Jose. She began her writing there and later went to San Diego, where she was married to Mr. Harr Wagner who was editor of the Golden Era, and later County Superintendent of Schools of San Diego county. They remained in San Diego until 1900 when they moved north and for a number of years have resided in Montara on the coastside of San Mateo county.

For over four years the deceased has been ill and confined to her home, the kindly care and watchfulness of her husband, however, did much to help her in her enfeebled condition. He did everything that it was possible to do and he will always have the satisfaction of knowing that his wife appreciated that fact.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Wagner leaves two daughters, Mrs. M. B. Johnson, and Miss Morris Wagner to mourn her death. The funeral was held from her late residence at Montara, yesterday morning and interment was in San Jose.

INQUEST JURY RECOMMENDS INVESTIGATION OF ACCIDENT

A jury calied in an inquest over the body of an unknown man found laying beside the Southern Pacific tracks on Wesdnesday of last week, last Monday recommended that the causes of the death of the man be investigated by the sheriff's office. While the fact that he was near to the track at first lead to the conclusion that he had been struck by a train, later developments in the investigation lead to a suspicion on the part of the jury that the man had been a victim of foul play and had been placed at the side of the track in order to divert suspicion from those who had caused his death.

The dead man was first seen by A. Courtermarsh, the engineer of the train which was proceeding south at 6:45 p. m. on that day, laying beside the track with his head resting on a roll of blankets, and his hat laid over his face. The train was immediately stopped and the body picked up. When found the position was changed, the hat was several feet away and the blankets were also a few feet from the body.

The jury found that the death was caused by a fracture of the skull directly in back of the head, and found no other marks. The supposition is that the man was killed by a blow on the back of the head, and was then laid by the side of the track, and that it was rolled into the position in which it was found by the wind from the train.

No marks were found on the steps or any part of the train to indicate that the body had been struck. The fact that a notorious hobo camp is located within a few yards of where the body was found, also lead to the suspicion of foul play. er and address.

THE GARDEN OF THE LORD

In the first book of the Bible the Patriarch who told of the beginning of things wrote, "And Lot looked upon the plains of Jordan and they were as beautiful as the garden of the Lord." We doubt not but that the sight was a goodly one, but Lot never saw the Santa Clara valley in February. If he had he most certainly would have thought that he was gazing upon the Elysian Fields.

Later a singer of songs, sang, "It's apple blossom time in Normandy." But the writer of those well-known words never saw the Santa Clara Valley when the prune trees were filling all the country with fragrance and beauty.

The beauty of the garden of the Lord is all about us. Thursday we drove down to Atherton and out Selby Lane. The birds were trilling their highest notes. The flowers were giving off their sweetest odors and the hedgerows were linded with borders of pink-petaled flowering fruit trees.

We may need rain and we know we do, but the beauty of the Garden of Lord is around about us, so we were glad that we are alive and that the Lord has seen fit to let us live in the topmost part of the Santa Clara Valley.

BORROWED TIME

Last Tuesday a fine old man was buried in Half-moon Bay. He had reached the age of 97 years before he was taken to sleep with his fathers. He had lived in California for seventy-five years. He had been an honored, honest public official. But during the last years he had lived on borrowed time.

Three score years and ten are the allotted years for men and women, yet if by strength they attain a greater age those added years are likely to be filled with suffering and pain.

The life history of the human race is interesting in the extreme. A child is born; for a while he must be helped. Then comes the play period. Then he must mate and beget his kind. He has a certain working period, after which he is entitled to a resting time. Then he is gathered away. Cycle after cycle life has been in this order, and for eons and eons it will be the same. We do not not know much about the beginning we know even less about the end. All we know about the great secret is that we were put here because of some purpose and when that purpose has been fulfilled it is time for us to go. For some the time is short, for others it is long, but if we stay after three score years and ten we are living on borrowed time.

THE TOWN CLOCK

The big clock in the school bellfry stopped this week and put things askew in town. We had our watches in our pockets or on our wrists, but we didn't want to use them. We had come to depend upon the big fellow on top of the school and all that he would say was ten minutes to four. We knew that wasn't telling the truth in the morning and we knew that he was still deceiving us in the early afternoon, but still we looked and still we wondered what could be the matter with our big time-piece.

We are prone to become dependent. We want something or somebody to do something for us all of the time.

One of the richest men in the world today says that if we want to get ahead we must think for others, not have them think for us. His advice is good and timely. We have our work to do and if we exepect to have anybody think anything of us we must be their time tellers. Its a fine thing to have people look up to us even if they only want to know the time. Further than that we will have to tell them the correct time all the time or else it will soon be the ash heap for us.

BY THE ROAD SIDE

Up Woodside way our supervisors built us a fine highway in between a lot of beautiful trees that God had planted for us. All around there is beautiful scenery, and yellow topped flowers are breaking through the green grass. And along side of the road is a litter of paper and sardine cans. We could stop here and you would know the story.

Wednesday we rode along this beautiful way. We passed a limousine. and a woman and two children were eating their lunch and throwing their garbage by the way. We should have stopped and told them our opinion of anyone who would do as they were do ing but we lacked the courage.

We wish our supervisors would enact laws punishing such acts. Our schools are trying to get the idea over but it seems as though some people haven't any idea of how they should act when they are out in the country.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

"Ad vert" in the language of the old Romans signified turning the mind, or more liberally interpreted, to give thought to any question. Today the merchants of Redwood City, desire that you think of them when it comes time to buy. Redwood City has stores where almost any line of goods can be purchased at prices no higher than those charged in San Francisco. These merchants ask and deserve your patronage; to buy from them helps make the town better, more prosperous, and enables the merchant to carry even a better line of goods than he is now able to provide. When you need goods, remember the old Roman phrase and give a thought to the merchants who make Redwood City a better place in which to live, by selling in it. Their advertisements appear every week in the local papers. Make your paper your buying guide, and you will not regret your choice of merchants.

BOY INSURANCE

Editor Times-Gazette:

I was interested in your editorial, same weeks ago, regarding the responsibility of parents for the delinquencies of their growing boys. If the parents were as alive to the need of boy insurance as they are to the desirability of fire and burglary insurance, there would not be so many delinquent children.

We all know that there is a period in a boy's life when he absolutely must be kept busy or he will get into mischief. And he must be kept busy at that thing that will hold his most enthusiastic interest and attention, for it must be an occupation for the mind as well as for the hands. It goes without saying that the same thing will not appeal to all boys. For one boy it will be a workshop with adequate tools, for another, a tennis court or athletic equipment, for another, pigeons or rabbits or a garden or radio.

During two years' work with a large number of boys at a settlement club on North Beach in San Francisco, I found that the one thing that proved of most general attraction was the wood working shop. But there is no use trying to force a boy into what is to him an unattractive occupation. The aim should be to discover your boy's hobby, take an interest in it for his sake, and help him to acquire the equipment to follow it up. It is merely boy insurance.

Forty Years Ago

February 26, 1884

Quite an exciting time in Belmont last Sunday—almost as good as a circus. First, about noon, twenty-four members of the "Bay City Wheelman" reached Belmont, had lunch and spent the rest of the day and all the next day there. Then later in the afternoon a baloon came in sight and landed in the hills, back of Belmont. It proved to be the mammoth gas baloon, Hercules, which had ascended at Woodward's Gardens. Prof. F. E. Martin and W. Hart of the Alta were the occupants of the basket. The highest altitude reached by the baloonists was 8,500 feet.

THE SHIP HAS LEFT THE HARBOR

The ship has left the harbor,
for broken ships must be Borne out upon the ebbing tide
Into eternity.
With only God to guide it—
No compass, chart, nor star—
It will not drift a derelict,
Though it has crossed the bar.

When it was rigged for sailing,
'Twas staunch above all fears,
We wreathed it with our loyalty,
We hailed it with our cheers;
While nations wailed in sorrow
From sins of war's increase
And raised torn hands in prayers of hope
That it would bring them peace.

It sailed to lands of carnage,
Where right through might seemed just,
A messenger of brotherhood,
A ship of faith and trust.
But, oh, the seas grew heavy,
The lightnings flashed o'erhead,
And wave and wind broke mast and spar
Because the sails were spread!

Undaunted by disaster
On seas of human hate,
It's strong, keel held it safely up
To wait a nobler fate.
And thus it came to harbor,
Where smaller boats sailed past
And fluttered laughing little flags to mock the riven mast.

The anchor line is broken,
We stand in silent grief,—
Yet well we know that brave old ship
Is safe beyond the reef.
The years will do it homage—
Their tributes show it's fame—
It touched the shores of many lands
In spirit as in name.

SCIOT'S SHOW OPENS IN BURLINGAME WEDNESDAY EVE

One of the unusual events of the season is the fair being conducted by the San Mateo Pyramid of Sciots in Burlingame, which opened to the public last Wednesday evening and will continue tonight and tomorrow night.

Judging by the elaborate program prepared by the committee on arrangements, it will not be difficult for one to live over again the splendors of old Egypt.

Each night there is a different show all appropriately arranged. A Revue in which will be depicted the charms of maidens of the Pharaohs will add color to the setting.

A Moorish Mart has been laid out and all interior decorations are already in place. The exterior decorations are underway.

The famous Sciot Arabian band gives open-air concerts throughout the evening.

The use of an Aldieh upright piano has been secured through the courtesy of Levy Bros. music store of San Mateo. This instrument will be in service throughout the entire program.

The Show Unusual is being held in Burlingame on Burlingame avenue at Middlefield road, one block from the Southern Pacific depot. The Sciots plan to give away a Studebaker light six touring car, complete with a full complement of accessories, on the closing night.

OUR COUNTY SCHOOLS BENEFIT BY AMENDMENT

San Mateo County has profited greatly from the operation of "Constitutional Amendment "Sixteen," the California school finance measure adopted in 1920. This amendment inercased the State aid for schools to $30 per pupil in average daily attendance. The provision of this amount of State aid is now made obligatory by the constitution, and this aid therefore keeps pace with the increase in school attendance. The increase in the State aid represents no increaes in the apportionment per pupil but merely the same amount per pupil on a larger attendance.

Last year this county had an average daily attendance of 6255 in the elementary schools and 1317 in the high schools, and receives this year, as its share of the State aid, $182,963 for elementary schools and $44,947 for high schools. The increase in average daily attendance for 1922-1923 over 1921-1922 was 8% in the elementary schools and 26% in the high schools, bringing an increase of $22,718 in the total State aid apportioned to the county.

If it were necessary to raise by local tax the amount now furnished from the State Funds, it would require an additional tax of 60 cents on the $100 valuation of property.

Cleaning Without Odor by the F. Thomas Process

Our many years of experience has taught us that it is impossible to do perfect cleaning with cheap, inferior methods. That is why we found it necessary to invest nearly $500,000 in the equipment of a plant and the establishment of an expert organization to do the quality of work demanded by our customers.

With the "F. Thomas Process" we not only remove every particle of dust but we return your garments without that usual disagreeable smell of gasoline. Every drop of gasoline we use in cleaning is redistilled and very highly refined.

Raw gasoline—the kind that you buy for your automobile—is full of heavy oils and unfit for cleaning fabrics. It is little better than ordinary distillate and leaves a sickening "gasoline" smell in your clothes

THE SEEMINGLY TRIVIAL SURVIVES THE AGES

The comparative unimportance of certain works of men, held by him at the time as of the highest interest and the amazing life inherent in what, in its beginning, is often looked upon as of no importance, is strikingly illustrated in two news dispatches of the day.

One tells of the Armistice Memorial, formed from the railway carriage in which the armistice was signed, falling into ruins, although it was conveyed to the grounds of the Invalides, in Paris, for preservation. The other records the unearthing, in what was once ancient Phoenicia, of what is described as the earliest known alphabet, dating back to at least 1200 B. C.

The Moabite stone, discovered in 1859, dating back to 850 B. C. is the earliest record of an alphabet the world possesses, except for this new discovery.

To us of today the Armistice was the most important event in our lives It meant the end of war, privation, death, suffering. It meant—so we thought—a new world order, charity, peace, brotherhood of nations, rehabilitation, reconstruction, happiness.

To those who carved them, the stones on which they "wrote" their alphabet were probably of no greater importance than the primer in which we print ours Yet the alphabet, earliest of literary inventions, revolutionized the world and may justly be considered to be the foundation stone of civilization as well as education. Without the alphabet there would be only picture writing such as the Chinese have; clumsy, inefficient and keeping such wisdom as there is, only for the few.

The humble invention which made the world lives; even its earliest record permits for thirty-one centuries. And our boasted monument of our great peace beginning, is falling to ruins after six years!

NEWS OF MENLO PARK

John Welsh, a pioneer resident of Menlo Park, passed away last Friday, following a lingering illness of over a year. The funeral on Monday was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends who accompanied the remains to Holy Cross cemetery, where they were tenderly laid to rest. Mr. Welsh came from his home in Ireland when a boy to the United States. In 1876 with his young wife he arrived in San Francisco on his way to New Zealand, where he engaged in the dairy business for four years. Tiring of that prosaic life in the antipodes, he retraced his steps to San Francisco and arrived in Menlo Park in 1880. His first employment here was for the late Major Rathbone. Some time afterwards he became superintendent of the estate of the late Senator Charles N. Felton, a position he held until the demise of the senator. Mr. Wesh had the confidence of Mr. Felton who remembered him in his will with a substantial bequest. Several years ago Mr. Welsh retired from all activities. He was a devoted Christian, a good citizen, faithful friend and a devoted father and husband. He had the respect and esteem of the people of Menlo Park, where he had resided so long. Mr. Welsh had lived to a ripe old age, having seen eighty-nine summers come and go. Having lived a clean, good life, he did not dread death, but was ready when the Reaper came. He is survived by his wife and one son, John B. Welsh.

This morning in St. Mary's Cathedral, San Francisco, Edward Engle Eyre, young son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Eyre of Atherton will be united in marriage to Miss Suzanne Lenclos, beautiful daughter of Mrs. Madame Edmond de Lenclose of Paris, France. The ceremony will take place at a nuptial high mass at noon. A large number of friends and relatives will be present. Mr. Eyre is an exemplary young man of promise with a bright future. The attractive bride is not very well known on the peninsula, for she spent the greater portion of her life in Paris, where she was educated. She is a young woman of unusual beauty and accomplishments. The young couple has the best of wishes of their numerous friends for a happy wedded life.

In honor of her daughter, Mrs. George Brett, Mrs. C. A. Devol of Menlo Park entertained at bridge and tea Wednesday afternoon at the Stanford Women's Clubhouse. Major and Mrs. Brett, who are now stationed at Crissy Field, the Presidio, San Francico, are to leave soon for the air service supply depot, near Dayton, Ohio.

Receiving with Mrs. Devol and her daughter was the latter's sister-in-law, Mrs. M. L. Brett, wife of Major Brett of the Presidio.

The proletariats of Atherton will meet this evening in Duff & Doyle hall to nominate a ticket for the coming election on April 14. A full set of officers is to be named at this meeting and a plan of campaign arranged. Those holding the present reins of government are to meet shortly and put up a strong ticket. The election promises to be hotly contested.

Mrs. Cora M. Love, for the past two years ago a resident of Stanford Park, passed away last Friday. Mrs. Love was a native of Missouri and was 59 years old. The remains of the lady were interred in Alta Mesa cemetery on Monday.

R. E. Miller, the Atherton capitalist, has been selected as one of the Johnson delegates to be voted on at the primary election on May 6. Miller has always been a generous contributor to republican campaigns.

The State highway Commission is cutting down several oak trees on the highway between Redwood City and Menlo Park to make room for the widening of the thoroughfare, the contract for which is about to be awarded. It is to be regretted that these age-old oaks have to be sacrificed but the onward march of progress demands it. The highway is to be widened four feet all the way from San Francisco to San Jose, the work being completed as fas as San Mateo. When finished the boulevard will be one of the finest in the country.

It is reported that fifty head of cattle have been killed on the Stanford property on the old Dennis Martin ranch. They have been affected with the prevalent foot and mouth disease. Many of the dairies hereabouts have been quarantined. The disease starts with blisters on the mouths of the cattle, spreading to the hoofs. When taken with the disease, cattle are at once dispatched for they rarely recover from the ailment. It will take some time to stamp it out of the state.

Mrs. Kurtz, proprietor of the Woman's Exchange, will make a specialty of tamale pies today. She also has a large assortment of home made cakes doughnuts and pies. Special bargains today. Give your order this morning for your Sunday dinner.

The old-fashioned dance given Tuesday evening under the auspices of St. Joseph's school alumni was a big succes. The caller for the round dance was Lucas Greer of Palo Alto, a veteran of the ballroom, who performed a similar service at the dances at Woodside many years ago. A neat sum was netted. It will be applied to a fund that eventually is to be used on the play grounds and building of the alma Mater.

This evening in the Hall of the Nativity the Agnesian Club of San Francisco will give a performance consisting of songs, sketches, monologue and melody, after which a dance will take place. A splendid program is to be rendered and those who miss the entertainment will regret it as long as they live. Come early and get a front seat.

Father James Doyle is out from St. Louis on a vist to his father and other relatives. He will meet his former friends in Menlo Park before returning east. Father Doyle was ordained a priest of the Jesuit order last year and is stationed at St. Louis, where he is engaged in teaching a Jesuit college there. His many friends will be glad to greet him.

Miss Mary Emma Flood has decided to pass the summer abroad. She will travel to Europe with Miss Christine Donohoe, whom she will join in New York next month, and they will meet the Misses Katherine Barbara and Mary Donohoe in Paris. Miss Flood is a talented scuptress and during her absence will spend much time in study. Miss Christine Donohoe also plans to work at her art while she is in Europe. She is a successful designer of stage setting of costumes. Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Flood will occupy their estate here during the summer.

NEWS OF WOODSIDE

Not all of us who live in the country, close to Nature's breast, have learned to appreciate her beauties. I heard Dr. McKee speak scornfully of one who came to Woodside and cleared away a splendid clump of native shrubbery to make a pace for a heart-shaped bed of petunies, and of another who cleared all the wild roses from the banks of a creek than terraced the sides and planted them with certain more or less ornamental shrubs imported from a foreign land, set regularly in rows and triangles and half-moons. Dr. McGee's slogan, "Save the native shrubs," might well be adopted as a community watchword. He has been practising his preachment for nearly twenty years with the result that his place shows specimens of almot every tree and shrub native to this section of California, equally interesting to the botanist and to the mere lover of beauty.

All he does in the way of gardening is to clear out the dead and unsightly brush and to thin the growth merely to that extent which will give a maximum of opportunity for growth and development for that which remains. The Doctor told me the approved method of transplanting the native shrubbery and I am glad to pass it along for the benefit of those who may have had trouble, as I have had, in successful transplanting.

The tree or shrub that is to be removed should be taken up in August or September and heeled in until spring and then reset in its permanent position. If this method is followed, with due care for the root systems, failures are rare. Remember the slogan, "Save the native shrubs."

Miss Louise Mahon of Palo Alto visited her uncle, Rev. Benjamin St. John, over the week end.

Local politics are warming up over the election of a school trustee which takes place on March on 28th. Fred H. Mighall whose term expires, is a candidate for re-election and in consideration of his many services to the school it is believed that he will be returned by a large and complimentary vote.

Fifteeen ladies of the Woodside church gathered at the home of Miss May Huddart on Thursday afternoon to hem table linen to help in restocking Mrs. Zane's linen closet. A prize was offered for the best workmanship but at the end of the afternoon, not even with the aid of a microscope was it possible to choose between the work turned in by Mrs. Westcott, Mrs. Leigh, Mrs. Gish and Miss Tripp, so that the award had to be left to chance in which Miss Tripp proved the winner.
